PURPOSE. Antique Radio Classified is published for people involved in the radio collecting hobby. Its purpose is to stimulate growth of the hobby through the buying, selling and trading of radios and related items, and to provide a monthly forum for the interchange of ideas and information.

CONTACTING ANTIQUE RADIO CLASSIFIED. All correspondence should be sent to:

A.R.C., P.O. Box 2, Carlisle, MA 01741.

Send only UPS, Federal, etc. items to street address: One River Road.

Telephone: (508) 371-0512; Fax: (508) 371-7129

Please, no classified ads by telephone; thanks.

Your ads, renewals, letters, etc. can be handled faster and more efficiently if (1) each is on a separate piece of paper, and (2) your name, address and SUB# are written on each.

Unfortunately, A.R.C. is not staffed to answer letters with questions about antique radios or requests for advice. However, A.R.C. does solicit letters of interest to its readers and publishes them as space permits. A.R.C. assumes that permission is given to edit and to publish all correspondence and articles received unless otherwise indicated.

GUARANTEE. You may cancel your subscription at any time and receive a pro rata refund for issues not yet mailed. If errors to ads are made by A.R.C., upon request a free correction will be run in the next available issue.

PAYMENT. Please send in full payment with your order or ad. A.R.C. does not carry accounts; all subscriptions, ads, etc. must be prepaid (except for the 6 and 12 month display ads indicated below). Pay in U.S. funds. Checks drawn on a U.S. bank, money orders, VISA or MasterCard ($10.00 min.) are preferred. Make check out to "A.R.C." U.S. stamps or cash are OK for small amounts. Canadian payers may send a Canadian check but specify U.S. funds. Subscriptions will be prorated to amount sent if amount is incorrect.

FAX PROCEDURES/PAYMENT. Subscriptions, book orders, classified ads, display ads, etc. are welcome by fax. Deadlines are the same for faxes as for ads received by mail. Please calculate the amount due. Payment by VISA or Master Card is preferred if your order is over $10. If under $10, or if you prefer to send a check or money order, state the amount being sent and that the payment is in the mail. Do not send another copy of your ad with your payment; simply indicate that it is a fax payment. If you want confirmation of our receipt of your fax, call immediately after sending your fax.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS. Please notify us 4 weeks in advance of a change of address. Send both your new and old addresses, and include your SUB# and effective date of your new address. Temporary address changes can be made also.

SUBMISSION OF MATERIAL. Antique Radio Classified welcomes and solicits information that pertains or relates to radio history or collecting. This may include articles, book reviews, photos, information on upcoming radio events, meetings, antique radio organizations, radio auctions, sources of old radio and restoration supplies, and other related and interesting material. All material submitted should be carefully researched, typed and accompanied by good photos, if appropriate. Computer disks are appreciated. Writing guidelines are available upon request. Unless prior arrangements are made, all submitted materials may be edited, become the property of Antique Radio Classified and will not be returned. Publication is subject to approval by A.R.C. and to time and space constraints.

MAILING OF ISSUES. U.S. subscribers can receive A.R.C. by First or Second Class mail (Second Class is the way most magazines are mailed). The mailing of First Class copies is staggered over one to four days with faraway copies mailed before local copies. Non-U.S. copies are mailed on the first day. Second Class copies are mailed on the last day. Mailing dates change each month, but mailing is usually completed by the 26th of the month. First Class copies usually are received by the 5th of the month; copies by Second Class mail, by the 10th.

ETHICS. No person involved in the production of A.R.C. is to act on any information in the magazine until the first delivery day after local copies are mailed.

DISCLAIMER. The publisher is not responsible for any buying and selling transactions incurred, or for any other use of the contents of this publication.

Antique Radio Classified subscription rates, frequency of publication, content, policies, size and ad details, and rates are subject to change at any time by A.R.C.

DISPLAY AND BUSINESS CARD ADS – DETAILS AND RATES

The deadline is the first of the month for display and business card ad artwork, payment and repeat requests.

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers must agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied, and to comply with a buyer's refund request on unaltered returned items.

Advertising must be prepaid, except as noted below; see "Payment" paragraph above for details. Late ads will be run only if space and time permit. Since artwork is reduced to 63% in the printing process, originals must be the artwork size listed below. Do not send in artwork on art board or send negatives. Ads should be typeset or typed neatly with a carbon ribbon, black ink (not pencil) on white. If used, reverse type must be limited to 25% of the ad. If you want us to prepare your ad, include the one-time cost below for A.R.C. to make up the ad.

Photos should be at an 85-line screen; otherwise, add $12.00 per photo for screening. Do not cut or trim photos or glue photos to artwork; submit separately.

If you are confused by these requirements and terms, please contact A.R.C. before beginning to prepare your ad. We will be happy to advise you on your ad ideas, estimate how much the ad will cost, recommend an ad size, etc.

We assume that advertisers want all ads which are submitted to run without delay; therefore, we will run the ad and bill for any additional work required for the ad to meet these specifications. A late ad will run beginning with the next month. "Tear sheets" will be sent only for 1/8-page or larger ads and only if requested when the ad is submitted.

Business card ads are limited to one per advertiser.

The 3-month rates represent about an 11% discount, the 6-month rates 23%, the 12-month rates 30%. Placement requests: add 15% but call first. Clubs: write for discount policy.

ANTIQUE RADIO CLASSIFIED

EDITOR'S COMMENTS

With the year 2000 less than a decade away, antique radio collectors face the amazing fact that radio history spans more than a century and that, within the next two decades, their collections may well do the same. When Glen Bucalo suggested that we picture his "The Evolution of Radio" T-shirt on an A.R.C. cover, the idea seemed appropriate for this issue. The first four decades shown on the T-shirt are represented in our article pages this month. Of course, we will have to wait 30 years to see if Glen's prediction for 2024 comes true.

The Camfield Super-Selective Nine is the third set in Chris Cuff's "Superhets of the 1920s" series. It is interesting to note how these home-built sets so closely match the designs of the sets in articles. Although, at times, the builder obtained some of the parts in a kit, often the magazine construction article was the only instruction he had to go by.

Part 2 of "Radios With Permeability Tuning" describes an additional group of manufacturers — from General Electric to Western Royal — who sold permeability-tuned sets. Most of these sets were made in the 1940s. Many thanks to over 50 of you who contributed to this 2-part article.

In another tuning-related article, Ian Sanders calls our attention to the tuning mechanism in a 1924 British Lissen crystal set — a copper plate which moves across a plug-in coil to select stations. This set also features an early version of printed-circuit wiring technique.

An original 1954 Regency TR-1 transistor radio sales brochure was the surprise in an envelope received at A.R.C. from subscriber David White. Since not all of us are fortunate enough to have a brochure with the TR-1 in our collections, we present extracts from David's brochure.

Another "Collecting Radio Novelties" article from A.R.C. founder Gary Schneider is included in this issue. When poking through antique stores and flea markets for that elusive radio, don't overlook that showcase of "smalls"; you never know if a radio novelty might be there.

The Photo Review illustrates a variety of radios, from a 1920s Reinartz to a 1950s television set. A 1930s, unique, 4-tube, aluminum-cabinet, cathedral-style radio of unknown manufacturer is shown; the owner hopes for more information on this set from other collectors.

Yes, as mentioned here last month, an RCA Radiola Model VII sold for $5,900 at the MARC auction in July. A.R.C. frequently warns that high prices at auctions can be an anomaly; however, I understand that at this auction, there were several bidders still active when the bidding was in the $4,000 range. The two remaining bidders took the price to what, I believe, is a new high for a radio at a club auction. (The correction of an error on this page last month is in order: the Federal Jr. crystal set sold for $500, not $700.)

There were 204 other lots in this auction where nearly 150 bidders made total bids of $34,000. And, of course, approximately 600 collectors enjoyed many other activities, as reported by Larry Babcock and Jim Clark in this issue.

Radio Miscellanea presents many interesting comments, hints and questions from readers. In another short article, Thomas Byers shares the unusual programming of the early days of Missouri radio station WOS.

Renew now and Save! Announcing an increase in subscription rates is never a pleasant task. However, the promised 10% postal rate rise, coupled with the increasing number of large issues, will necessitate an increase in subscription rates — $2.00 on 1-year U.S. rates. Avoid the increase by renewing today for up to five years. Remember that an early renewal of your subscription, as well as an extension beyond one year, saves even more because you receive 13 issues for the price of 12.

Club Events. September is here and collectors are heading to the Rochester, N. Y., Antique Wireless Association annual convention, the major U.S. gathering for radio collectors. Although some believe that flea markets at several other meets in the U. S. are comparable to the AWA flea market, the AWA meet is still the tops for comprehensive coverage. About a thousand people attend, along with hundreds of flea market participants. In addition, four auctions, seminars, old equipment contests, and two banquets are there to be enjoyed by all. The September Rochester meet is an event not to be missed.

A.R.C. will be at this AWA meet, with tables both inside and outside. In October, we will also be at the New England Antique Radio Club (NEARC) meet in Nashua, N. H., and the New England ARRL ham convention in Boxboro, Mass. This last show is one of two amateur activities where we set up; the other is the Dayton Hamvention in April. We always look forward to meeting our many subscribers at these shows, so stop by our table and say, "Hi."

Happy Collecting.

ON THE COVER

"The Evolution of Radio" on our cover is a nostalgic T-shirt design, the product of Glen Bucalo of Target Designs, Inc. The six panels, each in the same updated room, highlight five decades of radio history, plus a projection into the future. The 100 percent cotton, silk-screened, black-on-white shirt is available for $19.95, including shipping, from Target Designs, 551 17th St., West Babylon, NY 11704.

The Superhets of the 1920s – Part III
The Camfield Super-Selective Nine

BY CHRIS CUFF

Once again, Chris Cuff shares with us his enthusiasm for the superheterodyne kit sets of the 1920s. Earlier articles discussed the Popular Mechanics' Superheterodyne Eight (A.R.C. Oct. 1991) and the Samson Superhet (A.R.C. May 1992). This month A.R.C. features one of the sets from Chris' collection — the Camfield Super-Selective Nine. (Editor)

The introduction of the superheterodyne circuit in the early 1920s was heralded as possibly the most important development in radio to date. The superheterodyne had unequaled sensitivity and selectivity, as well as clean undistorted sound. There was one drawback, however — the only way to own one of these marvelous sets was to build your own or to buy an RCA. RCA controlled all of the superheterodyne patent rights and did not release these rights to other manufacturers until several years later when the company had firmly established itself in the superheterodyne market.

Fortunately, there were several companies that did provide the plans and parts needed for the radio enthusiast to build his own set. How many of these kit sets survive today is unknown.

designed, deluxe kit set which features a switch on the front panel that enables the operator to go from a 5-tube TRF for local reception to a deluxe 9-tube superheterodyne. Indeed it is "super." When I repaired this set and got it fired up for the first time, I logged 75 broadcast stations from as far away as 1,500 miles in three hours time! One of the reasons why these sets are so good is that the oscillator and antenna tuning controls are separate. The left and middle dials tune in the stations while in the TRF position. The right dial controls the oscillator frequency when switched to superhet. Other contributing features are an adjustable IF gain and a movable loop antenna.

The March 1927 issue of the Citizen's Radio Call Book Magazine contains a descriptive article on the Camfield Super-Selective Nine, excerpted here as follows:

"The most recent development in modern receivers that is worthy of considerable comment and attention is the Camfield Super-Selective Nine. The operation of this receiver is exactly what the name implies — Super-Selectivity, a selectivity which has been heretofore unknown to the radio fan and the dream of most engineers. This quality has long been sought for and has been accomplished in a most unusual and unique way by the combination of the two most successful circuits yet to be devised and the addition of a new unit which permits a degree of selectivity that is unsurpassed."

An internal view of the actual receiver is shown in Figure 3. Figure 4 shows a rear view of a completed Camfield from the Citizen's Radio Call Book Magazine article.

"The circuit of the Camfield Super-Selective Nine is fundamentally a Super-Heterodyne, preceded by two stages of Tuned Radio Frequency amplification. The combination of these two circuits is quite logical and practical, but it was found necessary to incorporate new features and refine old ones in order to produce a receiver of unusually high merit. The Tuned Radio Frequency circuit is not a spectacularly selective one, but it is very sensitive and has a high gain factor per stage with a minimum amount of accompanying distortion. The Super-Heterodyne, on the other hand, is selective and fairly sensitive, but it has a low gain factor per stage, which necessitates the use of a number of intermediate stages of amplification in order to obtain the desired amount of volume on distant stations."

The article continues, stating that "In the circuit of the Camfield Super-Selective Nine, the old tuned stage transformer has been substituted by a unit called the band pass filter," shown in the layout of parts as seen when looking down on the set in Figure 5. The band pass filter made possible the use of an outside antenna and two stages of Tuned Radio Frequency amplification preceding the superheterodyne, which permits better selectivity than in previous types of "supers."

The article further states that "In the design of this receiver, great care was taken that all parts incorporated were as efficient and as nearly correct as is possible from an engineering standpoint. Special consideration was given to the design of the circuit and the various constants used to make up the two stages of Tuned Radio Frequency and the first detector. It was found that in order to obtain satisfactory operation, it was necessary that oscillation be completely absent from the amplifiers." The parts required for the Camfield Super-Selective Nine are listed in Figure 6.

RADIO MISCELLANEA

"Antique Radio Classified" invites its readers to contribute letters and information for inclusion in "Radio Miscellanea" and elsewhere in the magazine. The topic should be of general interest and sent to A.R.C., P.O. Box 2, Carlisle, MA 01741. All material submitted should be verified for accuracy and may be edited for publication, which is not guaranteed. See the masthead for more details.

Radios in Art Deco Book

Dear Editor:

I've only been a subscriber since the fall of 1991, so you may already know about this informative book entitled Popular Art Deco: Depression Era Style and Design by Robert Heide and John Gilman, which has an interesting 10-page chapter on radios and another on Catalin plastics. Published by Abbeville Press, New York, N. Y., in 1991, it is worth checking out at your local library.

Panel Meter Info

Dear Editor:

Your magazine has been of great benefit to me. In turn, I may have some information for Chris Cross who asked about panel meters in the August 1994 A.R.C.

Before retirement, I worked at Defense Electronic Supply Center in Dayton, Ohio, in the department where specifications for all panel meters for all of the U.S. military services were prepared. Meters are sealed because the meter movement is as delicate as a watch movement, even using jeweled bearings like a watch. If the meters were not sealed, they would breathe in moisture and other comtaminants, due to changes in atmospheric pressure.

As to numbering systems for different model meters, probably each company has its own system. The military has a system of designation, giving type of case, type of meter such as voltmeter, ammeter or wattmeter, and range.

Tube Code Article was Useful

Dear Editor:

I read the article on tube codes in the May issue of A.R.C. with great interest. As a tube collector, I have run across some of these "coded" tubes in the past and had a difficult time identifying approximate manufacturing date. However, with the aid of the article, I was able to identify two different types. Many times, just knowing the date the tubes first appeared will help tremendously with further research.

Old-Time Radio Show Sources

Dear Editor:

In reference to Fred Geer's article on radio entertainment in the April 1994 issue, I'd like to add two of the best sources of old-time radio cassettes. The first is Radio Spirits, Inc., P.O. Box 2141, Shiller Park, IL 60176, the company that sponsors When Radio Was, a nationally syndicated old-time radio show. The second is Radio Yesteryear, Box C, Sandy Hook, CT 06482. Both companies will send a catalog free on request.

Bendix Puzzles

Dear Editor:

As a collector of only Bendix radios, I've amassed quite a bit of knowledge about them. However, there are two puzzles I've come across, and I'd like to solicit help from your readers. The first concerns a red Addison radio I saw several months ago. The case for the Addison was identical, except for color, to the Bendix Models 55L2U and 111. I'd like to know how Bendix came to use the Addison case.

My second puzzle is related to the tuning range of many model AM Bendix radios. For some reason unknown to me, Bendix produced two versions of the same radio for a large number of their models. The radio models prefixed with a 0 (zero) tuned from 540 Kc to 1700 Kc. The same radio without the 0 prefix (i.e., 0526C versus 526C) tuned from 550 Kc to 1600 Kc. The radios were in production at the same time. If any of your readers know why two versions were produced, write A.R.C. to share the information.

Standard AK Resistor Codes

Dear Editor:

I have been learning the art of restoring radios from the '20s and '30s, and I need some help with old standard resistor codes. I have compiled a list of the color codes for Atwater Kent radios, but I haven't found any listing for another code system that seems to be used in many of the models of this period. Wire-wound resistors are often color-coded with a single color covering the entire device or combined with a black spot or black end. How do you read these codes? Below is a listing of the AK codes I have discovered. I would appreciate any information on these mysteries!

The Lissen Crystal Set (1924)

BY IAN L. SANDERS

"In the new Lissen Crystal Set there has been introduced a form of tuning which, while providing the means of suitably varying the wavelength range, does so without added capacity and in combination with an inductance which is peculiarly efficient with the form of tuning employed." This advertisement is from Lissen Limited's Amateur Wireless and Electrics, October 25, 1924.

The tuning arrangement found in crystal sets of the 1920s usually relied on one of four principles: either a fixed inductance tuned with a variable condenser, a variable inductance of the slide-contact type, a tapped inductance (commonly tapped at multiple and single turns for coarse and fine control), or a variometer.

The Lissen crystal receiver is shown in Figure 1. Produced just after the Post Office registration period, the set carries no registration number or BBC approval stamp. It is built on a small moulded ebonite base measuring ¾ x 5 x 4¼ inches, with nickel-plated terminals and fittings. The tuning plates are made of antiqued copper sheet attached to a shaft, and can be rotated across the sides of a standard plug-in coil by means of an ebonite control knob.

In addition to this unusual tuning arrangement, the underpanel "wiring" is also of interest, since it consists of stamped, flat copper conductors laid over the terminals of the components — in fact, an early predecessor of the printed circuit! The overall result is a compact and very robust unit.

The tuning principle adopted by Lissen was not unique; it was actually the same as that favored in the early 1920s by the Marconiphone Company. Marconiphone used this tuning principle in the "Crystal Junior" crystal sets, the RB10 valve-crystal receiver (see A.R.C., September 1992), and the well-known V2 2-valve receiver (see A.R.C., August 1991).

In the Marconiphone design, rectangular metal plates were moved linearly across the face of an inductor, rather than the circular rotating plate of the Lissen design. The physical effect, howev-

NEW APPLIANCES

The Lissen Crystal Receiver

"The performance of this set is particularly good, and signal strength is equal to that obtained by the best of any of the other tuning systems. It was thought that perhaps with the tuning plates completely covering the coil that signal strength might perhaps be reduced, but tests were made using a variable condenser in the aerial circuit so that a particular transmission could be brought in with various positions of the tuning plate, and results showed that signal strength was equally good on all adjustments."

Wireless World and Radio Review, November 19, 1924.

er, was exactly the same — a reduction in inductance, the magnitude of which depends on the relative proximity of the metal plates to the coil.

Coverage of the medium-wave broadcast band typically required the use of three coils:

No. 50 – 300-350 meters
No. 60 – 350-400 meters
No. 75 – 400-500 meters

The long-wave Chelmsford station, 5XX, could be received by inserting a No. 200 or 250 coil.

Lissen's own "Lissenagon" coils were strongly recommended. The claim was that the Lissenagon design produced a magnetic field concentrated around the sides of the coil, thus facilitating the tuning. With other types, the field was concentrated at the center. In fact, the Lissen coil design is rather conventional in appearance, and no doubt other types functioned just as well.

The price of the Lissen crystal set was 10 shillings (50¢ in October 1924), making it one of the lower-priced sets available — a good value, especially when one considers that, according to the manufacturer, this was "the most efficient crystal set made"! The plug-in coils were extra, with the price depending on the size, ranging from 5 shillings (25¢) for a No. 50 to 8 shillings and 9 pence (44¢) for a No. 250. At least one coil had to be ordered wtih each set — "...the receiver will not be sold without a coil because it yields a much greater efficiency when these coils are used."

WOS — Missouri Radio, 1924

BY THOMAS W. BYERS

Seventy years ago, a new phenomenon called radio was revolutionizing American life. From out of nowhere, information and entertainment came right into the living room. And since many of those living rooms were in the Midwest, it was no accident that over thirty stations were located in America's heartland. Thirteen stations were in Missouri alone.

One of the first was radio station WOS — "Wonders of Our State." Located in Missouri's state capitol, Jefferson City, WOS was owned and operated by the state government as a means of promoting the state and its agricultural products. Its 500-watt signal at 630 Kc covered the state and could be heard occasionally from coast to coast. Programming was mostly no-nonsense; it included topics such as "Pest Control" and "Modern Wool Production."

Programming was dull by today's standards, yet vitally important to farmers who had limited access to farm newspapers and county agricultural agents. That some farmers could not even read was likely.

However, WOS took a break from farm news once a week. Every Monday night at 8 P.M., a telephone line was hooked up between the studio and the Missouri penitentiary for a live broadcast of the Missouri State Prison Band and Orchestra. For one hour, an inmate group of 29 played the latest hits. The band leader was Virgil Combs, a former corn husker who was doing a life sentence. However, the star was piano player Harry Snodgrass — also known as "King of the Ivories."

Harry was serving a 3-year sentence for attempted robbery in St. Louis. Married and the father of a son, he listed his occupation before prison as a musician. However, his musical group was not named. Harry and the prison orchestra quickly became popular coast to coast, a fact which helped Harry win parole. Afterwards he went on to success on the vaudeville circuit. State records do not indicate that he ever returned to prison.

That is just as well, for Harry and the orchestra would have been off the air due to budget cuts which eliminated the farm news broadcasts in 1934. For a short time, the frequency was used to dispatch state highway patrol cars. Then in 1937, a commercial venture — KWOS — went on the air.

If you ever find yourself in Jefferson City, Missouri, tune your radio to 1240 AM. You won't hear Harry Snodgrass, but you can still hear the latest farm news.

Radios With Permeability Tuning — Part 2

COMPILED BY RAY BINTLIFF

As indicated in the August 1994 issue of A.R.C., the response to John Stanley's article, "In Search of Permeability Tuning" (A.R.C. March 1994), was so great that we divided our report into two parts. Here, in Part 2, we continue the discussion of permeability-tuned radios used in the home — a list that is seemingly endless, as more responses trickle in. We greatly appreciate the information provided by the 54 contributors listed in Part 1 of this article. (Editor)

GENERAL ELECTRIC

The GE Model 50 is a 4-tube TRF clock radio. This 1946 radio is pictured in the Second Edition of The Collector's Guide to Antique Radios by Marty and Sue Bunis.

GRANTLINE

Sold by W. T. Grant, Model 500 is another "All American Five" AC/DC set. Its tuning range is 545 to 1,700 kHz. Because the set uses an antenna plate, it is most likely a Belmont chassis. The model year is 1946.

LEAR

Learadio Models 561, 562 and 563 use the same 5-tube AC/DC chassis with a built-in loop antenna.

Learadio Model 6614 and three other models use the same chassis. The other model numbers may identify different cabinet styles. The 6614 is a 6-tube, AC/DC table model with a slide rule dial. It utilizes a loop antenna and has a provision for connecting an external antenna. Its model year is 1946 or 1947

Model 6617PC is a combination radio-phonograph. This 1947 table model is AC-powered and uses a slide rule dial.

MANTOLA

The Mantola line was offered by the B.F. Goodrich Company.

Model R-643-PM is a 4-tube, battery-powered radio. The model year is probably 1946.

Model R-652, circa 1946, is a 5-tube, portable radio capable of operation on AC/DC or a battery pack.

The R-644 series of radios use a 6-tube, AC/DC chassis with a loop antenna. The sets are table models with a slide rule dial.

Model R-78162 is an AC-powered console radio/phonograph, circa 1948.

Meck Model PM-5C5-P is a 5-tube, AC/DC radio that requires an external antenna. Meck built this radio with a set of either octal or loktal tubes.

MIDLAND

Midland Model B6A is a 6-tube, farm set that operates from 32 Vdc. It requires an external antenna. Model B6B is similar to the B6A, but uses a 28D7 audio output tube instead of the 25L6 and the voltage dropping resistor found in the B6A. The model year is probably 1940.

Models M6A and M6D are AC/DC sets that use 5 loktal tubes. The model year is 1946. Models M6B and M6C use the same circuitry, except that octal-based tubes are used.

Model M6B is a 6-tube, AC/DC table radio that uses the same circuitry as the M6A and M6D but uses octal-based tubes. Its tuning system uses an eccentric cam drive to "linearize" the tuning dial scale. The set requires an external antenna and its performance is reported as "nominal." This 1946 radio is shown in Figure 12.

PHILIPS

This European radio, Philips Model 95U-00R, is a table radio with a round dial. This radio uses 4 European tubes. The slug tuning is accomplished by a simple dial cord drive arrangement.

"ROCKET" RADIOS

A rather unique application of permeability tuning was used in the "Rocket" radios sold by the Miniman and Philmore Companies. These rocket-shaped plastic radios are perhaps better described as children's toys. They are crystal sets consisting of a slug-tuned coil, a fixed capacitor, a diode detector and an earphone. The slug is connected to the rocket's nose cone, and tuning is accomplished by moving the nose cone in and out of the rocket body. These sets, manufactured in Japan, were introduced in 1955.

SILVERTONE

Model 6220, shown in Figure 13, is a table model with a tuning range of 540 to 1700 Kc. A view of the tuning mechanism is shown in Figure 14. One reader said that the dial cord stringing was the "most complicated I had ever seen." You may agree after looking at the dial cord string drawing shown in Figure 15. This 5-tube set, circa 1946, operates from a battery pack and uses loktal-based tubes.

Model 6230 is a 5-tube, battery-operated portable that uses the same complex dial cord arrangement. Its model year is 1946. The radio covers the BC band and 3 SW bands.

Model 6320 is a 6-tube, AC/DC set with a tuning range of 540 to 1620 kHz and 4 mechanically operated push buttons. The radio uses a Type 6H4GT tube for AVC. Otherwise, the circuitry is the same as Model 6407 described below. A loop antenna is used. Figure 16 depicts the manual tuning and mechanical push-button mechanism used in this radio. The model year is probably 1940.

Models 6403 through 6406 also use permeability tuning. Their schematic diagram, dated November 1939, appears to be identical to the schematic for the Model 6320 described above.

Models 6404A through 6406A are similar sets except that they use a Type 6SK7 tube instead of the Type 6K7 found in the Model 6320. The schematic diagram for these sets is dated March 1940. These sets lack push buttons.

Model 6407 is similar to the Model 6320, except that it is a 5-tube radio. It does not use the separate Type 6H4GT AVC tube employed in the Model 6320. The set's owner reported that it plays quite well with a little loss of selectivity at the top of the broadcast band.

Models 6408 and 6409 use the same chassis as the Model 6407 described above.

Model 7104 is a 5-tube, BC table radio that operates from a battery pack.

Models 7108 and 7158 are similar to the 7104, except that they also cover two SW bands in addition to the BC band. Model 7108 is illustrated and described on page 179 of How to Repair and described on page 179 of How to Repair Old-Time Radios by Clayton Hallmark. No other details are available on this radio.

Model 8230, illustrated in Figure 17, is a 1946 radio. It can be operated from AC or a battery pack. This 6-tube set includes an RF stage and utilizes 4 coils and tuning slugs. A view of the tuning mechanism is shown in Figure 18.

Rider's Volume XI contains information on a number of other Silvertone radios that employ permeability tuning.

SONORA

Sonora Model RQU-222 is an AC/DC table radio that covers the BC band only. Its model year is 1946. Its tuning mechanism is the same as that used in Belmont radios. This radio was probably manufactured by Belmont.

SKYROVER

A model number is not available for this Skyrover radio. It is described as a 6-tube, AC/DC table model in a Bakelite cabinet.

STEWART-WARNER

Another AC/DC set that uses the "All American Five" tube complement, the Stewart-Warner Model 51T46 is a table model with the ubiquitous slide rule dial.

Model 51T56 is an AC/DC set with a slide rule dial. A 1948 model, it covers only the BC band.

Model 61T18 is an AC/DC set of 1946 vintage housed in a Bakelite cabinet. A 3-gang tuner is operated by a dial cord tuning drum coupled to a smaller drum and a metal belt that moves the tuner.

The AC 62TC16 table model, shown in Figure 19, is housed in a wooden cabinet and dates from about 1946. This 6-tube set covers the AM broadcast band and the 31-meter shortwave band. According to all reports, the set has good selectivity and moderate sensitivity. Rejection of static and AC line interference is reported to be good.

Telechron Model 8H59 "Musalarm" is a 4-tube clock radio, circa 1950. The tube complement suggests that it is a TRF set. One owner reports, "Unless you live within a mile of a 5-KW station, its performance is awful." This AC/DC radio is illustrated in the second edition of the Bunis book.

TRU-TEST

This private brand radio, Tru-Test Model 571-X-101-115, may have been manufactured by Belmont Radio. The radio uses an antenna plate and a short hank of wire for an antenna.

TRUETONE

Truetone radios were sold by Western Auto Supply. The "Stratoscope" model, possibly a Model D1015, is an AC/DC table radio from about 1940. It uses the "All-American Five" octal-based tube lineup. The radio does not use the slide rule dial found in many permeability-tuned radios. The radio's owner indicates that the set seems to perform as well as conventionally tuned radios of the same era. It is reasonably selective and sensitive, with no noticeable images from strong local stations. This radio appears to have been manufactured by Belmont.

Model D1070 is an AC/DC set that uses the same chassis as the D1015.

Model D2612 is a 6-tube, BC-only radio, circa 1946.

WESTERN ROYAL

Western Royal Model W533C is a 5-tube, AC radio and 45 rpm record player. The use of a 45 rpm player suggests a late 1940s or early 1950s radio.

Model W481 is an AC, 8-tube, BC and SW radio.

COMMUNICATIONS RECEIVERS

Readers also identified two communications receivers that employed permeability tuning. These radios are the Collins R-388/URR and the Echophone EC-3. The Echophone line of communications receivers, including the EC-3, should not be confused with the Echophone broadcast radios of the 1920s and 1930s. The communication receivers were low-end sets manufactured by Hallicrafters during the 1940s and sold under the Echophone label.

KITS AND PARTS

In addition to permeability-tuned radio sets, radio kits and parts were also available as evidenced by the Popular Mechanics' superhet kit shown in Figure 20 and the basic tuner offered by Aermotive, also spelled "Aeromotive."

The Aermotive tuner, Model 320, was used in a construction article for a 4-tube superhet that appeared in the November 1949 issue of Radio-Electronics. A dial scale and dial pointer were furnished as part of the tuner kit.

WHY PERMEABILITY TUNING?

During the late 1930s, significant improvements were made in the manufacture of powdered iron cores which made it possible to construct efficient and compact coils for the BC band. One writer pointed out that most radio manufacturers lacked the facilities to manufacture tuning capacitors and purchased them from outside suppliers. Heavy demand for tuning capacitors, and possibly a shortage of aluminum, made the use of permeabilty tuning quite attractive. Furthermore, many of the larger manufacturers had coil winding facilities that could be easily adapted to construct permeability-tuned coils.

Permeability tuners are usually smaller in size than capacitor-tuned units. Their small size offers the advantages of a smaller cabinet and greater flexibility in the mechanical layout of components. Lower cost and improved delivery times were important factors as well. However, slug tuning did not replace capacitor tuning entirely. For example, Belmont produced both conventionally-tuned and permeability-tuned radios during the same model year.

SOME OBSERVATIONS

The information supplied by A.R.C. readers identified a surprisingly large number of home radios and manufacturers. The radios ranged from simple battery-operated portables to rather elaborate console-style radio/phonographs. It is interesting to note that most of the radios cited were manufactured in the 1940s. The prominent production year was 1946. Airline, Belmont, Detrola and Silvertone were the "biggies" in the use of slug tuning.

One reader esitmated that a million or more permeability-tuned radios were built, many under private brand names. AC/DC-operated radios dominated the list, followed by AC sets. Battery-operated portables and farm radios came in last. Although some TRF sets were produced, most of the sets were superhets.

Based upon reader input and a scan of some Rider's manuals, our conclusion is that Philco and RCA did not produce permeability-tuned home radios.

While the list of radios included in this article is extensive, it is far from complete. For those readers interested in the chase, there are still many other permeability-tuned radios out there waiting to be identified. In addition to Rider's manuals, Sam's Photofacts Folders from 1946 to about 1950 are another source of information for identifying slug-tuned radios.

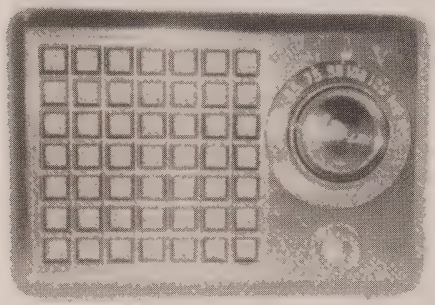
PHOTO REVIEW

This column presents in pictorial form many of the more unusual radios, speakers, tubes, advertising, and other old radio-related items from our readers' collections. The photos are meant to help increase awareness of what's available in the radio collecting hobby. Send in any size photos from your collection. Photos must be sharp in detail, contain a single item, and preferably have a light-colored background. A short, descriptive paragraph MUST be included with each photo. Please note that receipt of photos is not acknowledged, publishing is not guaranteed, and photos are not returned.



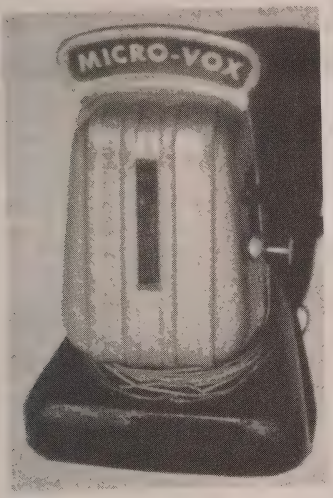
TRAV-LER MODEL 5056-B – This brown Bakelite midget set is 7" wide, 5" high, and 5" deep. For a tube complement, it uses the "All-American Four": Types 12SA7, 12SQ7, 50L6 and 35Z5. (Stanley Lopes – Concord, CA)

ZENITH ADVERTISING – This unusual thermometer, which has a yellow background with black printing, is 10" in diameter. It is the only one I've ever seen. (Stanley Lopes – Concord, CA)

H.H. ELTZ FARM SET – Judging from its tube lineup, this 5-tube farm set must have been manufactured in the 1930s. It also must have been made for national distribution as the lower dial scale lists actual call letters of stations all across the U. S. (Herb Parsons – Peabody, MA)

ZENITH TV MODEL 2574-R – The cabinet of this 1954, black and white 24-inch "hidden" TV is in excellent condition. The chassis needed considerable repair and is now playing well. (David Lyons – Sycamore, IL)

PHOTO REVIEW



MICRO-VOX WIRELESS MICROPHONE – Manufactured by Mercury Electronic Lab, Inc., Chicago, Illinois, this wireless mike uses a Type 1L4 tube with self-contained 1½-volt and 45-volt batteries. It operates with any AM receiver. Are there many manufacturers of these "toys"? If anyone has further information on this item, please write to A.R.C. (Leonard Cartwright – Aptos, CA)

MANUFACTURER AND MODEL UNKNOWN The cabinet of this unusual radio, made of ⅜" thick aluminum, is 13" high x 9" wide and 8" deep. The tube types — 80, 47, 57, and 58 — make me believe the set was made around 1933. If you can identify this set, please write to A.R.C. (Gary Watkins – Bolton, MO)

REINARTZ RECEIVER – Prominently diplayed on the front panel of this battery set is the information that it was made by H.L. Dearborn of Groveton, New Hampshire, in 1924. Although it has only 3 tubes, the set performs extremely well. (Herb Parsons – Peabody, MA)

ATWATER KENT BREADBOARD "EXPERIMENTAL SPECIAL" – Atwater Kent sold component parts so you could design your own rig. Although not an original AK breadboard, this one makes a good display. (Ed Bell – Raleigh, NC)

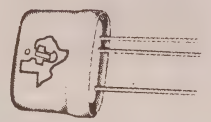
The Regency TR-1

CONTRIBUTED BY DAVID T. WHITE

Although it now seems a long time ago, I remember enjoying Fred Geer's article "Evolution of the Transistor Radio" in the December 1991 issue of A.R.C. very much. Recently, I bought a Regency TR-1 for 80¢. (It sold in 1954 for $49.95.) When I removed the back, I was surprised and pleased to find a sales brochure inside. I thought A.R.C. readers would enjoy it too.

The following text is an extract from the original brochure provided by Mr. White. The illustrations are reproduced from the same brochure published by the Regency Division of I.D.E.A., Inc., of Indianapolis, Indiana, manufacturer of the Regency TR-1. (Editor)

This is a Transistor



This miniature miracle of the age replaces bulky vacuum radio tubes. The transistor is 5 years and 50,000,000 engineering hours old and it has taken these millions of hours in laboratories and on drafting boards to make possible Regency radio — the first transistor radio ever built.

Regency Radio

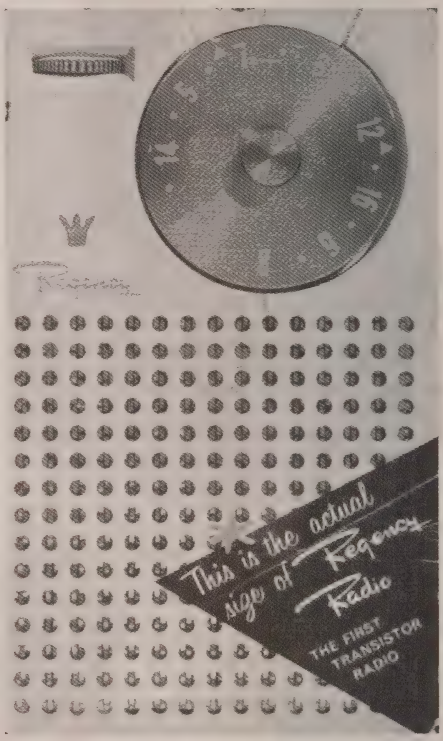
The world's first transistor radio has created a complete new concept in personal radios and sets the pattern for all radios to come.

Regency Radio

...has done away entirely with bulky vacuum tubes.

...has eliminated the need for heavy, short-life batteries as the use of transistors requires only ONE tiny 22½ volt hearing-aid battery — low in cost — easy to replace.

...has a reception range equal to portable radios 3 to 5 times its size.



The cover of the Regency TR-1 brochure is the same size as the original radio.

...has lack of distortion, thanks again to the four tiny transistors, and the unique design of the genuine Dynamic loud speaker.

Regency Radio

...operates on ONE tiny 22½ volt battery.

...at a cost of about 4 cents an hour playing time.

...battery easily obtained — easily replaced — just snap out dead battery and snap in the new — all set for many hours of enjoyment for only $1.15.

Regency Radio

...The advance, high style of the case befits the engineering advancement contained therein.

...The case, designed by one of the world's foremost design firms, Painter, Teague & Peteril, is available in any one of six colors — Mandarin Red, Cloud Gray, Ivory, Black, Jade Green or Mottled Mahogany.

...Each color enhanced by the distinctive tuning dial with the appearance and color of natural gold.

Regency Radio

...has a loud speaker — BUT — if, on occasion, you want an absolutely personal radio — just plug in the Regency Earphone — and you alone can hear.

An optional accessory at $7.50.

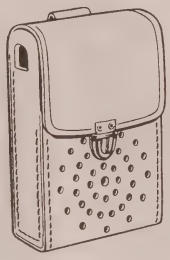
For protection in hard usage and for convenience, there's the attractive leather carrying case.

...Designed with separate pocket on back to contain Regency Earphone.

...Has convenient belt strap for those active men who want it handy at all times.

...Radio and earphone can be operated right in the leather case.

An optional accessory at $3.95.



With the Regency Radio in pocket or purse anytime, anywhere, you can be sure to hear that favorite program...be sure not to miss that vital installment of soap or horse or space opera...check scores, weather, results, news...have music wherever you go at those times when music adds so much...and the Regency Radio can play for you alone without disturbing others around you or the whole group can share.

Size – 3" x 5" x 1¼"

The Development of the Regency TR-1

FROM SCHIFFER'S THE PORTABLE RADIO IN AMERICAN LIFE

From 1950 to 1960 was the decade of the development of transistorized products. Besides the established companies like RCA and Philco, many young companies entered the competition for the transistorized product market. Among them was Texas Instruments, which, in the spring of 1954, initiated the design of a transistorized product for consumers — the shirt-pocket portable radio. Within a month of their assignment, a team of Texas Instrument engineers had created a 6-transistor prototype, which would fit into the empty case of an Emerson 747.

The company goal was to mass-produce this radio in time for the Christmas 1954 market. An unexpected problem arose — finding a radio company that would manufacture this set using Texas Instruments transistors was difficult. Other established radio companies scorned as unsalable the shirt-pocket design, and, of course, were pushing their own designs.

Finally, Texas Instruments captured the imagination of Ed Tudor, president of I.D.E.A., a small electronics company in Indianapolis. Tudor believed that the Cold War '50s, when Americans were building backyard shelters in fear of nuclear attack, was the right time for portables, a necessity in such emergencies.

The pressure to meet the November mass production deadline was on. I.D.E.A. engineers reduced the number of expensive transistors from six to four and designed miniature components, farming their manufacture out to other companies. A Chicago industrial design firm — Painter, Teague, and Pertil — created the stylish cabinet. Frantic efforts to get everything to fit followed. Finally, production got underway on October 18, 1954, in time for Christmas.

The Regency TR-1 was not a resounding success due to "poor tone quality, unpleasant distortion at high volume, low power output, and excessive background noise," according to Consumer Research Bulletin, July 1955. Although its sales never reached expectations, the TR-1 did much to stimulate the demand for transistors, led to the more rapid application of transistors to computers and other electronic devices, and helped make Texas Instruments a giant in the semiconductor field.

The above information was paraphrased from "The Portable Radio in American Life" by Michael Brian Schiffer, The University of Arizona Press, Tucson & London, 1991.

COLLECTING RADIO NOVELTIES

BY GARY B. SCHNEIDER

An interesting sideline to the collecting of radios, speakers, tubes, and other related items is the collecting of radio novelties (not to be confused with collecting novelty radios). These radio novelties are in some way connected to the subject of radio.

Some of these items are your typical radio banks, games, puzzles and toys. However, many of them have nothing to do with radio, but merely capitalized on the craze of radio in the 1920s and used the name "radio" in advertising for the product. Most of these items are small in size, and therefore they were lost over the years and are quite difficult to find today.

This is the fifth photo review of radio novelties. If you are fortunate enough to have access to early A.R.C.s, the issues with Collecting Radio Novelties are August 1986, April 1987, July 1987, and June 1994.

MEET AND AUCTION REPORT

MARC – AWA Extravaganza '94
Lansing, Michigan — July 8-10, 1994

COMPILED FROM REPORTS BY LARRY BABCOCK AND JIM CLARK

The Michigan Antique Radio Club (MARC) and the Antique Wireless Association (AWA) held the 9th annual Extravaganza meet and auction at the Holiday Inn South Convention Center in Lansing, Michigan, on July 8-10, 1994. Always a well run affair, Extravaganza '94 featured such amenities as a 40' x 40' tent in the middle of the flea market where refreshments were provided free of charge. Some 600 attendees, who represented 24 states and Canada, could find shelter in the tent from inclement weather without going back to the Holiday Inn. In addition, the lighted, paved parking lot offers ample room for the expansion which will no doubt be needed in the future, as more collectors hear about this event.

Extravaganza '94 featured its usual excellent auction this year with about 205 lots selling for a total of $34,035 in 3½ hours. The professional auctioneer kept the excitement going for the 146 registered bidders. Consoles, large sets of Rider's manuals, etc. — all were handled efficiently. However, it was necessary for everyone to wait until the end to settle accounts, and this process took about two hours.

A major feature of this auction was the $20 minimum opening bid. As a result, 34 items did not sell. No time was wasted selling inexpensive items, which were grouped into lots. For example, many boxes of 10 or 15 novelty radios were sold in single lots.

Five items brought a bid of $1,000 or more. The top price by far was for a complete RCA Radiola VII in average condition. Are you ready for this? The purchase price was $5,900! Michigan has always seemed to be strong on Art Deco objects, but here was a really historical item drawing the top price.

Two very nice Model 558 Sparton mirrored sets were sold — a blue set for $1,200 and a peach set for $1,800. A black Motorola Catalin Model 51X15, with red front panel and handle and a ¼" chip reglued in the lower left corner of the front panel, sold for $2,200. A round, wood radio, with a circular, drum-shaped front panel and no identifiable manufacturer, went for $1,000. It had a lot of loose veneer and needed restoration.

Eight additional items sold for between $500 and $1,000. The most interesting was a Federal Junior crystal set, complete but in only average condition, that sold for $500. That was double the price I had expected. A TECLA 30 "crystal radio" in very good condition, brought $850, while a working Amplion horn speaker with the wood bell repainted black went for $500. A "Classic 1936" white table radio with blue grille brought $500.

The Catalin sets included a maroon with butterscotch Addison in good condition selling at $850; a black marbleized Addison with orange trim, in very good condition, but with no back and one knob missing, at $810; and an Emerson at $525.

Sellers were allowed to bid on their own items, since no minimum reserve bids were allowed. For example, a drab green Fada Model 21 with no chips or cracks went for $975, but this was a buyback. The seller in this case was the top bidder and had to pay the auction fee of 10% up to $75. (Larry Babcock comments that at least this makes the seller less anxious to bid his merchandise quite as high because he has to pay the fee as a penalty, if he ends up buying the piece back.)

The large tent in the middle of the flea market was the center of activity for more than 600 attendees.

Some of the radios entered in the equipment contest were later for sale in the auction. In one case, a set had won a First Place ribbon and was later sold in the auction. (In Larry's opinion, perhaps there is nothing wrong with this practice, but some collectors don't like to see others making money from the fact that a contest entry won an award.)

The following itemized list shows that some sets sold for bargain prices while others drew top dollar. Overall, it was an excellent auction with enough merchandise to appeal to every collector.

Vacuum Tube Repair Wafers

These tube repair wafers are solid-state devices for quick and easy repair of early vacuum tubes. The wafer is installed by simply sliding it over the tube pins and reinserting the tube into its socket. If the filament is intact, but there is little or no emission, the filament may be lit for best visual effect. However, the tube can be open filament.

No change in radio operating voltages is required. Any number of tubes may be repaired in a radio. If wafers are installed on all tubes, the B+ voltage may usually be reduced without sacrificing volume or sensitivity. Performance will vary between radio models.

FOR SALE: Hasbro Think-a-Tron. This 1950s early computer-toy is grey plastic, and when you insert a question card, it lights up, allowing the machine to pick the correct answer. This was a child's version of the Univac-but maybe not quite as expensive! Used, but with box, instructions, and cards, priced at only $39 plus UPS charges. Harry Poster

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

ONE FREE 20-WORD AD for subscribers in each issue; additional words are 19¢ each. See details below. Classified ads sent by mail, fax or by any other method must be received (not just postmarked!) by Noon Eastern Time on the classified ad deadline date to guarantee inclusion in the current issue. Late ads are held for the following issue. Please enclose correct payment with all ads. Stamps or cash are OK for small amounts. (Canadian and other foreign advertisers, please see "Payment" on page 2 for methods.) "Free words" cannot be accumulated from month to month; free words must be requested when ad is submitted.

Faxed ads: Please see additional information on the inside front cover.

Please write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, especially when included with other A.R.C. correspondence. Include SUB# with ad. Ads may be sent in advance; but, write each ad on a separate piece of paper and indicate the month (or successive two months) you want the ad to run.

To minimize our typing errors: Please write legibly. Use both capital and small letters. Do not use a dash between words. Carefully write the following numbers and letters (especially in model numbers) since some can look alike; for example 1, l and I (the number one, the capital i and the small L.) Also: 0, O , o, Q and D; r and n; 6, b and G; V, U, u, v and Y; A and R; 5, S and s; 2, Z and z. We try to correct spelling errors, so when using an uncommon word or manufacturer which we might mistake as a more common word or manufacturer, note it so that we do not "correct" it. Editor's annotations are in [brackets].

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers must agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied, and to comply with a buyer's refund request on unaltered returned items.

The publisher reserves the right to edit ads without notification to the advertiser and to reject ads for any reason. Names other than the advertiser will be edited out of ads. Ads with non-radio-related items will be returned or edited unless the non-radio-related items are for trade of radio-related items, or they are incidental to and appear at the end of an otherwise acceptable ad. The publisher is not responsible for errors due to illegibly written ads or for any other reason.

Clubs: Since club activities receive free coverage on the Coming Radio Events pages, the free 20 words may not be used for club activity ads. See inside front cover for additional information.

CLASSIFIED AD DETAILS

Deadline: NOON ET– 10th of the month!

Classified ads must have a standard heading such as WANTED, FOR SALE, FOR TRADE, FOR SALE/TRADE, SERVICES, MESSAGE, HELP, AUCTION, MEET, etc. This heading is the only bold or all-capitalized words allowed in the ad. Capitalize only manufacturer names, model names, etc. "Wanted" and "For Sale" ads are mixed together to encourage the reading of all ads, including the "Wanted" ads. This standard ad format makes scanning the ads easier.

Before writing your ad, please look over the ads in a recent issue of A.R.C., and try to write your ad in the same style. Full name (or company name) and address is required in all classified ads; we will add it if you forget.

To encourage varied content of the ads, the same classified ad may be run only once per issue and for only two consecutive months. (To run an ad longer, use a boxed classified or display ad.)

Classified Ad Rates per Month

Subscribers:
- First 20 words: FREE
- 19¢ per word for extra words over 20 plus
- 10¢ per word for a shaded ad (count all words including free words).
- * Subscribers may take 20 free words on only one ad each month.

Non-Subscribers:
- 35¢ per word plus
- 10¢ per word for shaded ad.

Please do not forget to send in the extra 19¢ per word when your classified ad runs over the free 20 words; your payment will be appreciated, and it will help to keep A.R.C. healthy.

BOXED CLASSIFIED AD DETAILS

Deadline: 1st of the month!

Boxed classified ads can run unchanged for three months or more. No words are free. Ads may be shaded and may include bold and all-capitalized words freely. The ad need not begin with "For Sale," etc. Minimum run is 3 months, prepaid. Discount: 5% for 6 months; 10% for 12 months.

Boxed Classified Ad Rates per Month

Nonshaded ads:
- 30¢ per word for all words,* none free, plus
- 10¢ per word for each bold word plus
- 10¢ per word for each all-caps word.

Shaded Ads (All words are bold at no charge):
- 40¢ per word for all words* plus
- 10¢ per word for each all-caps word.

Non-Subscribers:
- Add 20¢ per word to above costs.

*Three words can be bold-all-caps at no extra charge.

Deadline: 1st of the month for all ads with drawings or photos!

Drawings and photos are encouraged as the response to your ad is much larger and the reader knows better what you want or are selling. Send in your drawing or photograph, and A.R.C. will reduce it or enlarge it as needed.

$12.00 per month for each photo or drawing
(If ad is canceled, this amount cannot always be refunded.)

CHANGES & CANCELLATIONS

Please check your ads carefully before sending them in. Once ads are received, it is not always possible to refund the amount sent, pull the ad or make changes.

IMPORTANT — COUNTING WORDS — IMPORTANT

The standard headings: WANTED, FOR SALE, etc., count as one word each time used in an ad. Name, address and (one) telephone number, count as 6 words, regardless of length. Ham call letters and business name can be included in the 6 words and do not count extra. Full name (or company name) and address is required in all classified ads. Each additional word, abbreviation, model number or number group, extra telephone numbers, etc. count as one word each. Hyphenated words count as two words.
